"I suffered for three years with salt rheam and was ensuccessfully treated by n local physician. The humor was in my hands and I was obliged to keep a covering on them most of the time, changing the covering several times a day. Nothing seemed to do me any good. The stinging, burning and itching were very severe and it seemed at times as though I should become larene. If I bent my fingers the fiesh would crack open and bleed. I began taking Hood's Sarosparilla and after I had used six bottles I was entirely cured." Mrs. C. E. Wood, Delamar, Idaho.
